Hi Karen

Just another success story for Ruggle it. I told you that I was looking after a cat for 2 weeks while the owners were away and that this cat had had £500 spent on it at the vets including [redacted] [harsh chemicals, approaches & tablets]. The vets had drawn a blank and were then trying treatments for dogs as they had exhausted all their cat treatments.

I asked for permission to treat the cat as the owner had given up trying to give the tablets that she had been given and the cat was still scratching herself raw.

I used the Ruggle-it oil salve mixed with a little shampoo and water and as she wasn't too keen on me spraying it on her I used a kitchen towel soaked in the solution and bathed her tummy and neck first which were the areas worst affected. *[Photo Top. I then used the moist kitchen towel and used it like grooming cloth and gently massaged the whole of her body with it. She seemed to like this and within 3 days all the redness had gone and the only signs left on her tummy were the old scratches which were healing nicely.

The owner was amazed and is going to get some Ruggle-it when she has finished using what I left her with.
