Hi Karen

We have owned Teddy for 2 years, he arrived with appalling [redacted] [summer itching] and permanently rubbed his neck (he is hogged) anywhere he could leaving bald patches and scabs. We treated with everything we could find, which helped but did not stop the rubbing entirely.

[Muddy environments were not a problem after just 4 days] [redacted]

Teddy now does not rub his mane at all and we even managed to turn him out day and night with no signs of rubbing.

We are all keeping our fingers crossed for the coming year that it does not return, but since October Teddy's life has been transformed from being permanently itchy to a very content chap.

Many thanks

Jon
